WELCOME

Catholic Development Practice

'I prefer a church which is bruised, hurting and dirty because it has been out on the streets, rather than a church which is unhealthy from being confined and from clinging to its own security' exclaimed Pope Francis. His call to be a Church nearer to those who undergo hardship is accomplished all over the world by Catholic social workers. They belong to Faith Based Organisations (FBOs) such as Diocesan Social Service Societies, development organs of Religious Congregations and Civil Organisations set up by laity, inspired by their Faith. Following the Catholic Social Teaching (CST), these Faith Based Development practitioners see today a new parallel evolving in Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Thousands of these Catholic Organisations engaging in development practice all over the world are also looking for contemporary theories and practice guidelines.

ROME TRAINING

ROME TRAINING is an attempt by the Claretians and Mission Project Service to address the concerns of faith-based development practitioners. Based on professional social work methods, it involves Catholic social work theories which guide those engaged in various social apostolates. The term 'ROME' not only refers to the eternal city but also returning to the roots of Charity which has guided two thousand years of Catholic Social Apostolate.

A JOINT TRAINING INITIATIVE

MISSION PROJECT SERVICE, USA

CLARETIANUM, ROME

Claretian INGO, ROME

CONCEPT

Many Congregations experience today a bottleneck situation, of drying of traditional sources and emergence of new mission territories demanding financial resources. Responses are not easily available. Another phenomenon is the fast-evolving philanthropic landscape triggered by technological advances and discerning donors. Congregational leaders and Bishops are overwhelmed by these situations and there is a genuine search for credible answers. The Project Management and Fundraising Training is one of the responses to this situation. It brings together experts from Catholic donor agencies, development consultants, practitioners of Religious Congregations, Dioceses and laity to explore together a viable solution that can be replicated across the world in Catholic development practice.

The training offers a package of five days where the participants learn the components of project management as well as theories of fundraising. There are ample chances to interact with representatives of major Catholic donor agencies to know the present trends in fundraising, priorities of donors and sharing of success stories. Expert advice is also offered to set up dynamic project management offices in the Congregations, one to one meeting with donor agency representatives and develop a project idea brought in by the participants. Important topics such as theory of change, participatory project planning, logical framework approach and project cycle management are part of this intensive training. Starting in 2019, the plan is to conduct every year a similar programme during the Easter Holidays.

You are welcome to explore more about the Project Management and Fundraising Training that took place in April 2019 at Rome in this booklet.

DAY 1 OF PMF 2019

— Script by participant Sr. Sujata Jena SSCC

The Project Management and Fundraising Training for the Religious at Rome in April 2019 kicked off with a solemn official welcome by Fr. Xabier Larranaaga, CMF, the President, IVTC on 23 April at 9 am. Participants from 19 countries enthusiastically reached at the Institute of Theology for Consecrated Life, Claretianum well on time for the registration.

Melisa Keating- Mission Project Service (USA) greeted each participant individually while registering them into the training and providing training kits to each. The distinct colours, sizes and features of the group made the atmosphere fascinating and exciting. Some stood in awe and wonder at the richness of diversity of this first-ever training by the Claretians. After the welcome address, the Moderator, Fr. George Lanithottam, CMF introduced to the audience, Fr. Lord Winner, CMF, the speaker for the first session.

Fr. Lord Winner started his session summarising the expectations shared by the participants. The following topics covered in his session: Objectives of the training, Linkage between Charism, Apostolates and Projects, Areas of Apostolic Development Practices, Development Organisation of Apostolic Congregations, lack of funding for apostolate, causes for lack of funding for apostolate etc. Fr. Winner highlighted the objective of the training: To empower the participants to procure funds for the apostolates using scientific methodology. By this, the participants were motivated and were interested to learn with curiosity.

In the next session, Gerhards expounded on the Topic “Theory of Changes and Stake Holder Management”. He insisted on the fact that Development Projects are “Change processes” which have to take into account the “theory of change” (Lewin/Kotter). A Project without an impact of positive change is of no significance. Mr Thomas continued on the ‘Need analysis’ and ‘baseline survey’. He explained how to get into the practical aspects of ‘need analysis and baseline data’. In effect, Mr Gerhards emphasised that theory of change, stakeholder engagement, baseline data and need analysis are crucial points for project management. To deal with it, one has to ask oneself the following simple questions: Where are we now?

Where do we want to go? How do we get there? While reflecting these questions for a project, one is obliged to analyse the context, the needs, the stakeholders and the desired changes. In the afternoon he presented on ‘Project Landscape in Germany’. The speaker introduced to the group Development Agencies working in Germany. He also showed the various Church-related Agencies and more importantly, the trends and preferences of these Agencies...

Melisa Keating presented on the topic ‘Social Media and Fundraising’. The speaker introduced to the participants the number of present-day social media, the benefits of social media and the social media that are best for fundraising. It was indeed revealing as she introduced most of the participants to the use of ‘Canva’, a graphic-design tool website for congregations’ mission advertisement and fundraising.

After a short break, Fr. Lord Winner explained to the group the methods of working on the project, based on the learnings of each day. The participants were grouped according to the areas of actions and especially in the context of the project and the expected outcome (change) of the intervention of the project. The participants were reminded that the second day was going to be the toughest day of the training. Nevertheless, the participants were fresh at the end of the day and looked forward for the tough-learning- second day.

DAY 1 IN PHOTOS

DAY 2 OF PMF 2019

The first major topic of the 2nd day was the Logical Framework Analysis (LFA). Dr. Glenda Antonio of Spring Rain Global was the moderator of the day. Fr. Lord Winner elaborately explained the what, why and how of Logical Framework Analysis (LFA). LFA is the heart and centre of any project. It is one of the basic requirements of the funding agencies today. Log Frame is a vision statement of a changed world view. It is the mirror of the project which comprises the goal, objectives, verifiable indicators, outcomes, sources of verification and detailed activities of the project, and so on. It also serves as a tool to evaluate what we do and to improve the actions of our projects.

However, in order to design a Log Frame, problem tree analysis is the most central component. A problem tree helps to set outcome and objective of a project. Problem tree identifies the focal problem as well as the primary and secondary causes of the problem and effects of causes!

Fr. Lord Winner stressed the importance of involving the Stakeholders, namely, the target group, beneficiaries, staff, community members, in analysing the problem. The participants took much interest in learning the Problem Tree analysis and Log-frame as these serve very important components in Project writing. The complex Logic Frame Matrix was simplified by the trainer. Videos on Logic Frame and Problem tree were played for the group to understand the concept well.

The trainer expressed satisfaction with the participants in their learning on the topic. However, participants were asked to go in group to work on the projects of their own while applying the learning on Logic Frame and Problem Tree. Fr. Lord Winner was available for further consultation and clarification during the group work.

The second important topic of the day was Introduction of Funding Landscape in the United States: Both Mellisa Keating- MPS and Fr. Lord Winner CMF introduced to the participants the Funding Landscape of USA and Parish twinning.

The final session of the day was taken up by Dr. Giorgio Minella on the “Project Application and Process of CEI” (Italian Episcopal Conference). He explained about the origin and the history of Italian Episcopal Conference. And most importantly, he spoke about the scope of the CEI, requirements and eligibility of the project implementing agencies. He also prioritised the thematic areas of the project process and gave tips for writing project for CEI. Important and practical questions were raised; answers were given to clarify. Participants profited greatly from this session with CEI. Andrea Currari – GSF served as a smart translator to Dr. Giorgio Minella who spoke in Italian. It was another great day expressed by the participants!

DAY 3 OF PMF 2019

Fr. George Lanithottam CMF was the moderator of the 3rd day of training. The day started with a short prayer. Fr. Lord Winner presented the Basic Components of a Project Proposal in the first session. This include: Organisational Profile, Project Area Profile, Problem Analysis and Justification, Logical Framework Matrix, Implementation Schedule, Human Resource Plan, Financial Budget, Documentation and Reporting Plan, Monitoring and Evaluation Plan and Sustainability of the Project. Hence, when the basic components of a project are comprehended adequately by an individual s/he will be able to develop any kind of project with some abreast of information required by different funding or partner agencies. Fr. Winner elucidated each component of the project in details.

The other important component of the project presented by the trainer was Work Breakdown Schedule and Gantt Charts. In another way, it is also called 'Chronogram' or 'Time line'. Sequential activities are spread under the time line and executed accordingly. It is one of the vital aspects of the project which helps to implement the activities of the project in an appropriate time. It is very helpful not only for the implementation of the activities but also for monitoring and evaluation of the project as well as a supportive document for narrative and financial reporting during and at the end of the project.

Creating Cost & Finance Plans by Percy Patrick – SCIAF was the topic of the second session. Mr. Patrick offered some practical tips before going to his topic: Start small – It takes time – Learn to walk first. A child learns to walk first and then runs when he/she gets confident. Once you get your capacities built up, do your bit and expand, was his modest instructions. He further encouraged the participants to do the basic research themselves. He advised participants in these words: 'get enough information from the people. People will give you very valuable information. Convert the information to the requirements of the funding agencies.'

Mr. Patrick also explained the Sustainability aspect of the project. He presented some case studies on the Sustainability of the project which helped the participants to understand more on the topic.

In the afternoon we had Ramon Alvarez from Manos Unidas, Spain, the coordinator of projects in Asia. He presented about his organisation; its areas of work, project guidelines, reporting rules and so on. The participants were familiar with Manos Unidas as it funds to many Asian projects particularly in India. He took up many questions from the participants and threw lights on their concerns. After the input of the resource person the participants continued their work in groups on the application of Logical Framework.

BUSINESS DINNER

DAY 4 OF PMF 2019

On day four, both Melissa Keating and Fr. Lord Winner, CMF together presented about Mission Project Service (MPS). Melissa started her presentation by informing the participants that the Mission Project Service (MPS) is a Catholic agency which helps missionaries to get their projects funded. She then elaborated on the MPS Funding Guide, Workshops and Webinars in details. Fr. Lord Winner responded to some of the important queries that the participants had regarding MPS.

Fr. Lord Winner then invited the Missionary Sisters of St. Peter Claver to share with the group about the mission of the congregation. It was an eye opener for the participants to listen to the fund-raising strategies of the Missionary Sisters of St. Peter Claver whose mission is to raise fund for the projects of the missionaries especially in places where the Church is still struggling to survive. They raise funds from the ordinary parishioners and catholic schools by putting forward the project requests that they receive. It was revealing to know that the Sisters sponsored fourteen participants in the group to attend the training without which they would have missed the chance of such an important training program.

Mr. Percy Patrick – SCIAF presented on Interim – Final Report & Monitoring – Evaluation. The speaker gave very good tips on the topics with practical examples of both strength and weakness of project implementing agencies that he has observed so far in his experience. He pointed that when evaluating the efficiency of a program or a project, it is useful to consider if the activities were based on cost-efficiency, whether the objectives are achieved, the differences made in the life of the beneficiaries and how the project has positively impacted on the lives of people. Apart from the statistics and figures “it is important to collect and record human stories”, exclaimed the speaker.

In the afternoon Fr. Romuald Uzabumwana, SAC - Mission Secretary of the Pallotine Congregation in Rome, spoke in depth about Child Protection in Project Environments and policies in different agencies. The speaker prioritised the importance for all Religious and Secular Institutions to ensure protection of children in our living and working environment. He remarked that the United Nations Organisation (UNO) mainstreams child protection within its mission today. It makes its compulsory to all teams within a mission to have a responsibility to contribute in protecting children. He set the context in saying that the Catholic Social Teachings stresses the importance of communicating the love and compassion of God to all people in a variety of way. We believe that each child is a gift from God, born with inherent dignity and having right to respect. Protecting every young person entrusted to our care is not only our duty and responsibility but also our priority. The speaker then explained in detail why child protection policy is required in any organisations by clarifying what is child protection policy, what is child abuse and the kinds of child abuse. At the end, the assembly discussed at length the General Guidance for Child Protection Policies for the Diocese and Congregations.

Dr. Glenda Miro Antonio – CEO of Spring Rain Global presented her topic Philanthropic Development Office in Congregations and Dioceses. She emphasised the importance of setting Philanthropic Development Office in the Congregations and Dioceses in order to have a long-term sustainability of our institutions. She pointed out that there is a crisis on sustainability because there has been no financial plan or blueprint created for the future in our institutions. She informed the participants about the importance of having financial plan in our institutions as it is the roadmap to wealth and financial independence. Investing without a plan leads to lack of discipline where it allows our psychological biases and emotions to invade. Therefore, Philanthropic Development Office in Congregations lay the foundation for the institution to foresee the possible crisis or opportunities to function in the best way possible with the resources available to the institutions. Dr. Glenda coached the trainees on how to find solutions to financial crisis in running our institutions.

In the last session the participants were asked to work on their projects in groups. They were excited and overwhelmed with the knowledge and resources made available to them on developing projects and raising funds.

DAY 5 OF PMF 2019

The last and the most stirring day started off with a hymn to Mother Mary led by Fr. George Lanithottam, CMF, the moderator of the day. The Good Shepherd Foundation, Program Manager (Africa & Asia) Mr. Andrea Curreri was introduced to the group by the moderator. ‘Our lives together sustain our zeal – we are no longer strangers as we share a common mission’, was the starting remark of Mr. Andrea. This touched the hearts of a good number of religious gathered in the training from across the world.

The trainer with his vast international experience in the field of Public Health, Education, Women empowerment, Economic Justice and Human rights, motivated and inspired the Priest and religious participants as he shared information about the operational mode of Good Sphered International through the years together with the laity; the ultimate beneficiaries being women, girls, children. He made it clear that a high degree of quality and holistic approach in service is important today rather than quantity and fragmental approach. Therefore, ‘building capacities and working together with religious and lay people with a joint approach to mission is the right direction’, exclaimed the resource person.

Besides, Mr. Andrea took much interest in presenting the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). He stated that Good Shepherd International works at the Economic and Social Councils of the United Nations towards achieving the Sustainable Development Goals. He explained each one of the 17 SDGs which the United Nations is promoting to reach by 2030 with the help of the Governments across the world and the non-governmental organisations.

The trainer stressed the importance of integrating these goals in our thematic areas of action and apostolates. By doing so, 'the project would gain extra attention in the eyes of the funding agencies', he added. Andrea recommended to set up a Province development office in order to develop a culture of sharing among different provinces and communities.

Later in the afternoon the resource person presented the funding facets of Good Shepherd International and Catholic and Secular Agencies. He also presented different funding schemes. He reminded us to include in our programs the following cross-cutting issues: gender, HIV, environment etc., because today all the donors are looking for these issues to work for. On the whole the resource person provided a very good consultation on how to bring social impact into our programs.

Fr. George Menampambil SDB, General Mission Procurator of Salesians was another resource person for the day who inspired the participants by sharing the Salesian experience on Fundraising for Missions. It is an ordinary approach adapted by the Salesians from their founder. The founder Don Bosco himself came from a poor family who went through ordinary life. As a poor young boy he worked and raised fund for his studies. In the later stages of his life the founder raised fund through personal contacts. Therefore, by 1921 the mission was spread with 10 million regular donors from different parts of the world. The Salesians 'continue the same strategies for raising funds till today for their mission', Fr. George said. He revealed that the sources of Salesians funds are mainly from improved administration, individual donors, corporate donors, funding agencies and regional governments. Salesians even get funds from subsidiary organisations of United Nations, he added. The participants were much encouraged by listening to the strategies used by the Salesians and thanked Fr. George for his willingness to share this information.

Certification and Conclusion : The organiser, Fr. Lord Winner solicited the presence of Fr. Xabier Larranaga CMF, the president of ITVC, Claretianum, and Fr. Joseph Kamiruga CMF, the Secretary General of the Claretian Congregation for the certification ceremony. The president remarked that the humble ceremony was about giving thanks to the people and institutions who have made it possible. He asked the participants to be more human in the broad human family.

Certificates were awarded to all the participants. Sr Paola Farrugia DSH, the Mother General of the Daughters of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus, Malta proposed the vote of thanks on behalf of the participants. Fr. Lord Winner, the organiser took the opportunity to thank everyone who were behind the successful training venture. He particularly expressed his gratitude to the local Claretianum community, those in charge of the food and hospitality, the trainers, team members for booklet preparation and the organisations which funded the programme. The whole group was filled with enthusiasm and hope as they bid farewell to each other.

CONVOCATION OF PARTICIPANTS

PARTICIPANTS SPEAK

Right step in the right direction for congregations like us to learn fundraising in this changing time.

Mr. Richard Magana, Project Manager – Orione Community Development Centre, Congregation of Sons of Divine Providence, Kenya, AFRICA.

Through this training I came to know about many funding agencies and their views on project management. This will help me in carrying out the mission of my congregation among the needy people effectively.

Sr. Shamindani Fernando RGS – Sri Lanka, ASIA.

This is the first time I am attending such training program. I am going home richer. I am enriched to know the work done by many congregations in this aspect. Grateful for all organisers.

Sr. Mhabeni Murry SDP, Sisters of Providence, India – ASIA.

This Training helps me to assist the Sisters who are engaged in activities through giving advice in developing project proposals and connecting them to funding agencies.

Sr. Yuka Arita RSCJ, Japan, ASIA.

I would like to summarise my learning with the words of Andrea “our lives together sustain our zeal”. Together we can achieve many things. So many trainers have presented all through the program. Each of them is very valuable. It is an eye opener for me to witness how people are ready to help and support the mission of others by sacrificing their lives.

Sr. Sebastian, IHM – London, UK.

I was extremely happy to witness the ‘Networking’ and ‘collaboration’ of the Participants, resource persons and funding agencies all through the workshop. This I think is prophetic. All our efforts need to be unified in transforming and healing the broken world which is constantly being wounded by today’s culture of greed over need.

Sr. Sujata Jena, SSCC, Philippines- ASIA.

It is a very good program for religious to grow in transparency and accountability in project management.

Fr. Auralandam Elango, SJ, India – ASIA.

The training was intelligently coined with innovative facts, data and information. This will help our general team to look at the various possibilities in our mission planning in the future.

Sr. Sheeja Kolacherril SCSC – General Councilor – Switzerland - EUROPE

The training equipped me not only for mission but also for an effective administration. It will help me to ensure that the life and mission of the Congregation move in the right direction with great accountability, responsibility while providing a meaningful service to the people.

Sr Paola Farrugia DSH - Mother General of the Daughters of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus, Malta, EUROPE.

With the knowledge and experience I received through this seminar, I feel more confident and encouraged to write projects more effectively and professionally. I wish also to extend our mission, put systems in place and set up the mission development office.

Sr. Sobha Rani, JMJ – Director Social Service Society for the Congregation, India – ASIA.

I am very happy that we are creating an ecosystem to run the program of the congregation. I like the idea that the donors are coming here. Our goal is to help Congregations set up their Philanthropy Development Offices (PDOs) . I hope the Congregations take it up positively.

Dr. Glenda Miro – CEO of Spring Rain Global – Philippines – ASIA – Resource Person.

It is a good opportunity for us to explain to the partner organisations, our objectives, project guidelines, areas of actions, and issues that we are interested in today for funding. In this way, both the funding agencies and the project implementing agencies can save time and work more effectively.

Mr. Ramon Alvarez, Manos Unidas – Spain, EUROPE - Resource Person

The training program has helped build the capacities of the participants who can ultimately bring changes in the lives of the needy people with the resources available to them.

Mr. Percy Patrick, SCIAF, EUROPE – Resource Person.

This attempt is to set up a common framework for Catholic Development Practice where all the religious congregations can link their apostolates and work towards reaching the Sustainable Development Goals.

Dr. Lord Winner CMF, Rome, ITALY- Organiser.

LOOKING BACK ...

Overall rating of the course 52 respondents (some excerpts from Post Training Evaluation)

Very good	Good	Satisfactory	Not-satisfactory	Poor

- The training has given me an overall picture of how to formulate a project proposal including Problem Analysis, Logical Framework, Implementation Schedule including activities (input and output), Financial Budget, Documentation and Reporting, Monitoring and Evaluation.
- I gained a lot of information on modern trends in social change and understood how it can be customised to our congregational apostolate.
- The topics were well chosen and presented to the utmost preparation with innovation. The atmosphere was very friendly and homely. There was a feeling of equality and openness in and out interactions.
- It was well organised with relevant resource persons with useful materials and executed appropriately with time management.
